REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

Consultation of the accompanying statistical table will show that there have been 233 weeks of school in town during the past year. And since pupils in those neighborhoods (viz., 5, 13 and the old Union district at Livermore Falls) have been conveyed to school, it follows that there has been as much "schooling" as would have been given by 296 weeks if separate schools had been maintained at those places. When this fact is compared with the treasurers report it will be evident that much close calculating has been required.

In some instances citizens have generously co-operated to lower the expense of schools. For this they merit the thanks of all concerned. Such generosity seems to have been more common many years ago than now. Firewood, lumber, labor and board of teacher were often furnished gratuitously under the so called district system. In that day much pride was taken in helping the district to have a good and long school. At the present time this feeling of interest should include the whole town, which according to law now constitutes "a single district for school purposes."

It is often claimed that more "schooling" is needed than is now given. There are three ways in which this can be accomplished. First, by decreasing the pay of teachers. Second, by raising more school money. Third, by private generosity. Concerning the first method the Board feel confident that as low a limit has been reached as is safe. The other two are respectfully left for the consideration of the townspeople.

Books have been delivered at each school house at the begining of each term as early as the round could be made.

The cost of this work has been about five cents per pupil for each term. When books have been sent for by letter they have been delivered as soon as convenient. I have never felt like putting the town to the expense of special trips for this purpose and have therefor often been obliged to depend somewhat upon chance opportunities for sending. The best way when a book is needed is to send for it by some person who will take it back with him.

The further consolidation of schools is advocated by some and opposed by others. Possibly something more may be done in this line but probably not very much. The conveyance of pupils is a problem little understood by persons who have had no practical experience with it. 1. Trustworthy persons must be employed or the district is liable. 2. Conveying must be done just before and just after school. 3. Any scheme employed must be adapted to inclement weather as well as to sunny days. These three considerations are enough to dispose of the wild projects which occasionally are kindly suggested as solutions of the problem. When pupils could be suitably conveyed at a cost less than that of a separate school, it has been done. Otherwise not.

Less money than usual has been raised for repairs this year and not all of that has been spent. This is because the work at West Campton has been delayed.

No public gathering for pupils have been held by the districts except prize speaking at the Congregational church at the close of the spring term, and the exhibition of school work at the town house at the close of the winter term. The evidences of good school work given on the latter occasion were gratifying in the extreme. It may console those persons who do not value the intellectual advantages of such gatherings to know that the term bills and others are settled at these times, thus saving both the district and those who deal with it considerable trouble and expense.

The teachers assemblies at the opening of each term have been held as before and have continued to furnish opportunity for that cordial acquaintance between the board and the teachers, which is required for successful co-operation. On these occasions the work of the term is laid out; new text books, if any, are explained; and all needed information is given. Teachers are also examined and any required suggestions are made to them concerning their respective work.

In conclusion let me say that I am glad to have had the chance of thus becoming acquainted with the town during the past three years and I shall always remember this period as including some of the pleasantest experiences of life.

WINFIELD G. HUBBARD,

Chairman of the School Board.
